Dr. Viral V. Acharya,
Deputy Governor,
Reserve Bank of India,
Central Office Building, 19th Floor,

Mumbai-400 001.

Respected Sir,

SUB: IMPACT OF DEMONITISATION ON NBFC SECTOR

Further to our letter dated 24th January 2017 and your email reply thereto, we are submitting herewith the Note as required by you.

The recent demonetization of higher denomination notes has had a significant impact on various sectors of the economy. The emphasis being given on transparency, digitalization of payments and organized way of dealing with one's business affairs are steps in the right direction which we at FIDC believe, would yield long term beneficial results.

In the interim, however, there are some short-term constraints that our customers have been facing. As you are aware, NBFCs have played a significant role in expanding the borders of financial inclusion and in delivering credit to under-served and unbanked sections of our Society. A substantial number of our customers are transport operators, farmers, equipment hirers, SMEs and small traders and live in semi-urban and rural areas, where banking habits are still in a relatively under-developed state. A large part of their business receipts had been in the past, through cash collections. Transport operators for example, return to their home towns after several days in their road trips with cash.

The current demonetization has necessitated these entities to switch to alternative means of collection. This process will take time since it also involves an attitudinal change. This has introduced significant uncertainty in the minds of our customers as well as among the NBFCs on how loans to such entities would be serviced until the currency situation stabilizes.

Majority of the research studies undertaken to assess the ground level situation point to a significant slowdown in business, especially in sectors such as real estate and housing, small & medium businesses, transport operators, contractors and automobiles. The automobile sales figures released by Society of Indian Automobile Manufacturers (SIAM) for the month of November clearly reflect the above said scenario. It would be in our opinion, fair to suggest that the disruption may last at least, till the conclusion of the current financial year.

Impact on NBFCs:

In view of the above, Post-demonitisation, NBFC Sector has seen 25-30% downfall in the new disbursements in retail sector including automobile and transport sector, construction and agricultural equipment and around 15-20% downfall in recovery and collections in first two months. This would adversely affect NPA by 0.5%. However, the situation has marginally improved in January 2017 and expected to be near normal by the end of current quarter.

Hope the above will meet your requirements.

Yours Sincerely,

For FINANCE INDUSTRY DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL
